Session Notes

36 zone was 3x more crowded, went for quality over quantity and stuck on the south side of the jetty. Quick session but plenty of waves and not too much competition. Head to chest+ sets with king sets going over head. Wind picked up but was parallel (S) to waves so faces still pretty clean but plenty of power, riding most waves to the beach.

3/5
